

Food As Medicine

Join us to shape the Food as Medicine movement in the consumer health and wellness marketplace.

This Private Networking Group is designed for members to dive into and answer some of the most pressing and significant questions in Food as Medicine today. Focused on moving research and ideas to meaningful, measurable outcomes, these discussions with industry leaders are vital to the health and wellness community today. Members can not only network but form lasting partnerships and advance Food as Medicine approaches and programs.

It is essential that leading health and wellness experts across top retailers, CPGs, foodservice, large and small brands are around this table. This Private Networking Group offers a fantastic opportunity to distinguish yourself as a leading thinker (representing your company) within the Food As Medicine conversation.

Topics We'll Explore:

- Current pain points and limiting factors in Food as Medicine
- Best practices for cross collaboration across industry lines
- Explore policy impact on the movement
- Explore category specific insights

Outcomes:

- Mutually beneficial partnerships
- Thought-provoking programs
- Cutting-edge and industry-led research
- Share PNG learnings with the industry

Proposed Meeting Dates:

First Tuesday of every month
1:00 - 2:00PM CT / 2:00 - 3:00PM ET

What to Expect:

- Participant-driven and professionally facilitated by ARC/HWC staff
- Individual pre-interviews to identify the most relevant subjects for group discussions
- Hear from guest speakers who are SMEs in the field
- Review and discuss new research

To participate, contact Sue Toy,
VP of Association Development, sue.toy@catman.global retailhealth.global

